The Price of Health, Life, that of liberty is certainly significant. The vapor bath and opening pores is depressing and the mind will power The strongest feel this depressing effect the weak are prostrated by it. Every person or an debilitated should use a bath at home where it can be taken without the help of one. Unfortunately the ready to hand machine adaptable to the bath Have a machine at much less than one cent, and drawn cabinet as short as but the simplest machine for and support, and a roof rising pressure that will one minute while it cools and purifies the system in the medicine but nature demands All the medicinal substances prepared for another process in combined in Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the purest and most thoroughly the world has ever known. Its mild tonic, active cathartic, and unequalled diuretic, specific for all forms of kidney and urinary complaints, and a warrant issued by the Government, was rescinded in the Spring of 1862 and since then the Government has not dared to grant the license.

Promising Oil Developements Near this City.

A THIRTY BARREL WELL STRUCK TWO MILES SOUTH OF HERE

On Friday last a new well was struck on the "Abbott & O'Hare" tract (called Sampson, Janey & Co's tract on Wrigley's map made in 1869) about two miles south of this city, and yesterday it was pumping at the rate of thirty barrels of oil per day with a prospect of large increase as soon as the great body of salt water is partially pumped off The well is 880 feet deep To judge by this well, the territory seems to be of the same nature as the Triumph territory, and therefore gives every prospect of being lasting

Within a few rods of the above well, there is situated another well, which has been pumping from 15 to 20 barrels of oil per day for nearly four months This last well is situated on the Hyde farm, which contains about 225 acres Of this farm the "Octave" Oil Company, (consisting of Lunery Brothers, S P Boyer, Lyman Stewart, Milton Stewart and two others) bought 150 acres last January, and also leased in the vicinity of the Strawbridge farm, a part of the Sherman Oil Company's tract and the Fleming farm The above Company propose to develope that tract of farms this season in their usual energetic manner

On the Hyde farm two more rigs are up and also one on the Shambridge farm In addition to the above, another new well is commenced on the "Abbott and O'Hare Tract," and one on the Prockell farm, in which the drillers struck the third sand Saturday, with a good show of oil

On the Griffin Farm, Messrs Carter and Fairchild have leased about twenty acres south of the Catholic Cemetery (near the Miller farm road), and a few rods west of said cemetery, the "Griffin Run and Moore farm Oil Co," which is controlled by Jesse Smith, Strause Stillwagner and others have a rig up, and as they own large leases, expect to put down a number of wells

We therefore look with confidence to extensive developments on lands within two miles south of this city with a good prospect of success

THE BUSH HOUSE NOT TO BE THE CITY HALL —It will be seen by the Common Council proceedings in another column that a proposition was submitted to that body last Friday, for the sale to the city of the Bush House property for the sum of $16 000 A special meeting of the Council was called on that day to discuss the subject, and a committee was appointed to secure a refusal on the terms indicated, until the next regular meeting of the Board, and to arrange terms of payment and possession The committee waited upon Mr Riddle on the adjournment of the Board, and he informed them that he would stand to his agreement till next Wednesday, but would not accept any sum of money to bind the bargain The next day, Saturday, however, Mr Riddle told one of the committee that he had received a better offer and could not sell to the city as first proposed Negotiations, therefore, were broken off Some one has probably conceived the bright idea of speculating out of the city's wants, but the city can dispense with the Bush House and locate their Council Room in the new engine house temporarily The center of the city is undoubtedly in point of population, and will be in few years in respect to business, nearer Perry street than Franklin On many accounts the falling through of this purchase is to be regretted On other considerations, in view of the state of the city's finances, and the repairs and changes required on the Bush House property it may be just as well a few years hence No time should be lost by the Council in hastening forward the new engine house corner of Monroe and Pine for the accommodation of the new steamer

ACCIDENTAL POISONING —Dr Dunnigan was summoned last evening to attend three children who were suffering from the effects of poison The children are aged respectively four, seven and fifteen years they have no mother, but live with their father in the neighborhood of the convent, near Second street Yesterday during his absence the children partook of dinner, and when the father returned he found them all in convulsions upon the floor Dr Dunnigan was called and gave the necessary remedies and at 10 o'clock last evening the two elder ones seemed to be in a fair way of recovery, but the youngest was still in a critical state The cause of the poisoning remains a mystery The name of the family is not reported

MAIL MATTERS —No way mail was received from Corry and intermediate stations last Saturday, and we presume that this was the case with all offices on the O C & A Railway supplied by the mail train from Corry to Irvineton Mr H V M Dowell, Route Agent, sent a note to the Postmaster here, stating that he had no mail car and could not take the responsibility of assorting mails without the usual conveniences No blame, so far as we can see, can be attached to Mr McDowell What explanation the Railway Company will make we do not know We trust that it will be good and sufficient for nothing else would excuse such an interruption of our regular mail facilities as we experienced on Saturday last

TO MEMBERS OF EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE —Regular meeting of Executive Committee of Petroleum Producers' Union, Tuesday, April 16 1872, at Library Hall Oil City WM HASSON Pres't
W S McMullen, Sec'y

"CONCORDIA" —There will be a special meeting of the Sangerbund Concordia, this (Monday) evening, at 8½ o'clock, at their hall By order of the President
G FOWITZ Secretary.

HOUSE BUILDING AND MILLWRIGHTING —Attention is called to the card of Mr W M Young, whose shop is on the Weed Farm Mr Young is a good mechanic and will give entire satisfaction to all who may give him their orders

The South Improvement Company's Address

We published in our last Saturday's issue an address submitted to the Committee on Commerce, House of Representatives, and also to the people of the Oil Regions, by the members of the South Improvement Company The document is lengthy, and its compilation bears the mark of shrewdness and ability Its tone is conciliatory, and its arguments in defense of its policy specious and well calculated to deceive those unacquainted with the format on and management of rings When, however, the contracts and other business papers called for by the Committee on Commerce are examined, and the affairs of the combination are fully and searchingly investigated by that body they will be found to differ very materially, both in spirit and in letter from this carefully drawn document Until this has been done we will refrain from making any extended remarks upon the subject There is one point, however, which we cannot allow to pass unnoticed, namely, that The South Improvement Company is, by its own showing, not dead, but alive, with interests and purposes as diametrically and fatally opposed to the interests of this region as ever before Their name, charter, and railroad contracts may be gone, but they to-day exist de facto, and talk of calling themselves 'The American Co operative Refining Company, and under this title may yet succeed in working out their original scheme to the letter They are like a huge water mill with ponderous intricate, and almost indestructible machinery As the readiest way to stop the mill would be to cut off the water supply, so the only way to defeat this combination is to stop the oil supply Meanwhile let the producers beware of any entangling alliances with this powerful ring, whose objects and intentions are the same to-day as they were before, and who are evidently preparing to resume hostilities It is not at all probable that they will succeed in their demands, but if they do their 'own Johnny Fisher,' with his cliques, and their organs, will undoubtedly be munificently provided for, while the great mass of operators in the Region will be consigned to everlasting subjection and financial ruin

ELEGANT MILLINERY—PARIS NEW YORK AND TITUSVILLE —Saturday was marked in the calendar of fashion as opening day at Tracy's Temple of Fashion, an occasion of great interest to the female mind, and honored of course by the usual throng of customers to admire and purchase the beautiful goods displayed A glance at the show windows is indicative in a measure of the wealth of the contents within, but its not till one enters the store that a proper conception is had of the rich, varied and captivating goods which delight the eyes and open the purses of visitors 'Costly thy habit as thy purse can buy,' says Polonious, and now that the S I Co has kicked the beam and we are flung oil again to an open market, it is not surprising if the ladies partake of that indispensable luxury of the season, a fashionable spring hat or bonnet of 10 gravity, at the present easy quotations Mrs Tracy is conceded authority for taste and style in the selection and adaptation of those elegant little structures called bonnets a la mode, and she has never brought to Titusville greater wealth of materials—made and unmade—bonnets more lovely and captivating, laces more soft and floating, flowers more dainty, rare and bewitching The shapes do not vary materially from those of last season, the present styles being somewhat larger Lace and flowers are more abundant than formerly, but traits generally discarded Leghorn and white chip are the prevailing materials, and we saw some of these so bewitchingly trimmed with lace and ribbons green leaves and flowers, as would give an irresistable charm to any face We shall only describe a few "La Mode,' a black and white Milan braid gipsy style, trimmed with black gros grain ribbon, tips of sumac, bright rose with trailing vine worn either as a bonnet or hat 'Vivia,' a bonnet of black lace, tea rose, fall of lace on back, which answers for veil if needed "Princess George,' a leghorn bonnet, trimmed with corn colored gros grain ribbon, tea rose and trailing vine 'Lanchette,' a bonnet of white chip, with diadem, black gros grain ribbon, bright rose and trailing vine 'Violette' an English round hat of colored silk, trimmed with two shades of brown, large leaves and trailing vine of 'Lily of the Valley'

The above styles were generally much admired, especially the last The "Dolly Varden,' leghorn was exhibited in a variety of styles and won universal favor One exquisite sample was trimmed with gros grain ribbon and sprigs of wheat with trailing vine It is a jaunty, saucy, 'kiss me quick' sort of thing that would fill anybody's heart with rapture, and do more execution on the beach at Long Branch or Holiday's Dam than Cupid with his quiver full of arrows Old fogy as we are, who ought to know better, we couldn't help dreaming of rosy lips, velvety cheeks and golden tresses to match, and a summer vacation on some lovely isle of the sea, where Dolly couldn't go out of fashion It would be impossible for us to give a complete description of the beautiful goods, nor is it at all necessary The ladies will all examine the pretty treasures, for woman would not be woman if they did not admire them, and their husbands would be worse than brute if they hesitated to buy them Millinery is one of the fine arts, and Mrs Tracy is doing her full share in developing this branch of feminine adornment, and deserves encouragement for her energy, courage and perseverance in making Paris, New York and Titusville "common points"

W Little, is a very prominent feature of the establishment Boilers, tanks, stills, and whole refineries, are contracted for and built upon the shortest notice The blacksmith shop has in constant operation twenty fires, and three steam hammers, where all kinds of oil well tools are manufactured They make a specialty of this kind of work, having furnished tools to almost every part of the habitable globe where oil wells are known The foundry is very complete in its arrangements for turning out both light and heavy castings, in iron and brass The works give constant employment to about 380 men, under the superintendence of Mr C A Kendall, and are one of the most flourishing and extensive branches of industry in the Oil Regions

Mr John T Russell retires from the firm, reluctantly being compelled to abstain from active business He enjoyed the full confidence and esteem of his partners who regret his retirement He is a gentleman of high business qualifications, and his ability has added largely to the success of the firm He has the best wishes of his partners, the business men of Titusville and the Oil Region, who hope that he may soon be restored to health and again engage in active business pursuits

Messrs Gibbs, Wheeler & Russell commenced business in this city in 1866 Mr Gibbs bought out C M Wheeler in 1867, and the firm was then Gibbs & Russell A little later in the same year Mr Gibbs sold an undivided third to W B Sterrett, and the firm became Gibbs, Russell & Sterrett On the 22nd of May, 1871, an undivided quarter was sold by the firm to J W Humphrey and A A Aspinwall, which gave rise to the name of Gibbs, Russell & Co The new accessions, Messrs. John L McKinney and R D Sterrett, are comparatively new residents of Titusville, but favorably known in the best business circles of the Oil Region They are a substantial acquisition to the firm, which is to be henceforth known as Gibbs, Sterrett & Co be honestly paid, and 40 000 000 of people declared that $2 000,000,000 of debt should be paid in gold. That had been done under the administration of Grant. The official exhibit of March 31, 1869, shows that $3135,000 000 of debt has been paid. With this statement also comes the assurance that there is to be a reduction of $150,000,000 of taxation. This is the work of an imbecile government. (Laughter) Was there ever more quiet then on the Continent to-day? New political issues are constantly arising, and a purely administrative officer should be left free to administer. There has never been an officer at the head of the government more sensitive to public opinion than General Grant. When, for reasons which Providence undoubtedly—I don't—there was a rumbling of the people's will as to the collectorship of the port of New York he was removed. When it was understood that there were malfeasances in office committees of investigation were appointed. General Grant is not amenable to the charge that he does not heed the will of the people. He does heed it—not Lincoln more. (Cheers) Gentlemen, it is said that General Grant is no administrator. I don't know that he is. I don't know what the secret of that administration is. It was said that he was no general; it was said that there were other generals; but General Grant got the victories and the generals did not. It is said that he has no genius for government. I don't know that he has genius for anything, but there has never been a better administrator. It is said that he is a consolidator. Well, jealous as I am of it, I say that there should be a consolidation, but it should be the consolidation of a federal government. (Cheers. I believe that General Grant learns, but never forgets. As to the one term principle, I think there is just as much danger in the two term or the three term principles. I think I may pledge General Grant that he will withdraw if Mr. Sumner will, if Mr. Schurz will, if Mr. Trumbull will, if Mr. Greeley will, and if I will withdraw. (Laughter) Well, I will set them a good example. I will promise them that I won't be the next President of the United States (Laughter) We say about the two term principle that we would rather try a man who has had a trial of four years, and in view of all the weighty considerations of the future say that we would rather "take the old horse again." (Loud cheers) I believe, therefore, that under General Grant we shall have a prosperity that shall be the admiration of all the world.

The meeting was considered a grand success by the friends of the administration resident in Brooklyn.
